chemical process industries (CPI) professionals – engineers, managers, and technicians – have used Chemical Engineering's Plant Cost Index (CEPCI) to adjust process plant construction costs from one period to another. This index – rather, indexes, as it consists of a composite index and eleven sub-indexes – has received such wide acceptance that it has even been written into construction-contract, cost-escalation clauses.

Index Copri 2012

are dimensionless numbers employed to updating capital cost required to erect a chemical plant from a past date to a later time, following changes in the value of money due to inflation and deflation. Since, at any given time, the number of chemical plants is insufficient to use in a preliminary or predesign estimate, cost indexes are handy for a series of management purposes, like long-range planning, budgeting and escalating or de-escalating contract costs.

The chemical engineering plant cost index (CEPCI) is widely used for updating the capital costs of process engineering projects.

Typically, forecasting it requires twenty or so parameters. As an alternative, we suggest a correlation for predicting the index as a function of readily available and forecast macro-economic indicators:

What is the value of Marshall and Swift Equipment cost ...

The indices used in this study were from the M&S (Marshall & Swift Equipment Cost Index) and CEPCI indices (Chemical Engineering Plant Cost Index) as published in Chemical Engineering. Having assessed the main equipment investments (machines, instruments, devices), the factor analysis has been used by adding relevant coefficients to the coordinates positions and obtaining fixed assets investment estimation results.
